Dear General:

Many thanks for your letter of April 23 in connection with our nomination of Kirk for the Rockefeller Award, but most especially for your warm remarks in connection with my departure from the Agency.

It has been a great education to me and a rare privilege to serve with the high caliber of people the Agency has on board.

With my appreciation, and with warm personal regards.

Faithfully yours,

Dear Pat:

It was good to learn from your letter that Mr. McCone has again nominated Lyman Kirkpatrick for the Rockefeller Public Service Award in the field of Administration. I shall be delighted to do everything I can to support this nomination, for in my association with Kirk I have come to have the very highest respect for his administrative talents.

I note from my files that I had some correspondence with Dr. van de Velde in June of 1963, in connection with Kirk's nomination for this same award at that time. I do hope he wins it this year.

I am of course distressed to learn that the appointment of a military chief for CIA automatically requires your replacement by a civilian in the number two spot. I regret this of course, since from all I hear you have been doing a magnificent job in support of Mr. McCone. However, the Army will gain from CIA's loss. So, I guess it will all come out for the best. Anyway, all the best of luck for the future.

Sincerely,
